1. Preparation of the 1978 DCI Annual Report on the Intelligence Community is now underway. You are requested to provide a draft segment on the following topic for possible use in the Report:

Provision of Unclassified Intelligence to the Public. The DCI's position on the issue, the reasons for it, significant examples from the past year (such as Soviet energy supplies, Soviet civil defense, other), and the significance for United States intelligence activities of this course of action (including possible disadvantages of subsequent public contention over the propriety of public release of intelligence products, the validity of the substantive judgments they contain, and the impact of such public release on sources of future intelligence input).

Relations with the Academic Community. The DCI's policy and the rationale behind it, initiatives undertaken (use of consultants for review of draft products or for input to them, recruitment from the academic community, other) to enhance relationships, comment on the Harvard University guidelines, other aspects of interest.
